

Signs of dementia include:

- Loss of memory (e.g. misplacing articles)
- Disorientation
- Language problems
- · Poor or reduced judgment
- · Poor performance of familiar tasks
- · Mood or behavioural changes
- Loss of initiative or change in personality

Depression and dementia often go untreated because of fear, apprehension, stigma, denial and lack of money or family support. Caregivers may get stressed from caring for their loved ones. GoodLife!@South East CREST Team is here to support caregivers and seniors with depression and dementia.

GoodLife!@South East CREST Team

The CREST Team in the eastern region is based at GoodLife! Centre. The team works with community partners to provide useful information on mental health, links residents to suitable services and provides emotional support.

GoodLife!@South East CREST Team works closely with General Practitioners (GPs) and the Community Psychogeriatric Programme (CPGP) team at the Eastern Health Alliance to coordinate services and ensure continuity of care for seniors with depression or dementia.

- Recognise seniors who are well but at risk, for early intervention
- Recognise seniors with conditions

   e.g. dementia, depression referred by their families, welfare and grassroots organisations and civic groups and link them to the right service for diagnosis and treatment
- Help seniors and caregivers locate the right care and assistance in the healthcare and social services systems e.g. hospitals and clinics for medical and psychiatric care; welfare groups and community service organisations for rehabilitation, social and financial help
- Provide basic emotional support to seniors and caregivers
- Follow up with home visits to residents who are discharged from hospitals to help them reintegrate into their community
- Educate seniors and their caregivers on strategies to manage depression and dementia
- Reach out to the general public with mental health information and education
- Train volunteers as Angel Ambassadors to provide befriending and support services for residents who need less intensive care
